BACK TO SANITY.

Real work for an honest wage is the slogan that is bringing this country back to normal. A prominent business expert says the people are stabilizing their thoughts, and as their methods, and the ultimate consumer is coming into his own again. No one is buying impulsively these days, but every body is taking care to get 100 cents of merchandise value for every dollar. The average man these days is looking for quality instead of quantity and drives as good a bargain as he can get. Advice from various sections show that price reduction is still under way, with many articles near bottom level. This will go far toward reducing living expenses and making it easier for the average family to get along.

Suspension of dividends in many cases since the beginning of 1921 shows that the invested dollar is receiving relatively a much smaller return than the wage dollar. This is because the work of deflating investments began long before the work of deflating wages became the paramount influence in American business. While there are irritating controversies in many industries and serious friction in quarters where the professional agitator exercises a commanding influence, the outstanding fact is that the exorbitant wage schedule of the war days is being gradually reduced. This is an immense achievement, for the wage item looms largest in nearly all production costs and labor must contribute something forthwith to the readjustment of world-wide conditions.

There is good reason to believe that the railroads, as well as general business, have turned the corner and that there are much better days ahead. The food hazard is not nearly as formidable as it was. There never was such a world condition before and, while we hold more than 33 per cent of the world's stock of gold, we have an enormous responsibility in administering the trust so as to support the weak and sustain those nations whose heroic services saved us from the humiliation of having to deliver our Fourth of July orations in German.

One of the outstanding facts justifying confidence in the crop outlook, which is reassuring, and there are many reasons for believing that the out-turn of the harvests will be highly satisfactory this year. The farmers have been hard hit by the reduced prices, but there is good reason to believe that they will not make as bad a showing on the year's business as seemed probable a few weeks ago.

Generally speaking, those who are capable of judging agree that the outlook all along the line is much better than a month ago.

DANTE.

A few men there be, product of civilization, whose greatness far outstrips national borders and is the heritage of all peoples. Such was Dante Alighieri who, though Italy's greatest poet is none the less a treasured possession of the whole world.

In preparing to commemorate the six hundredth anniversary of his death this coming September, Italians are only eagerly in the van of what doubtless will be an international memorial. Americans, no less than Italians, will wish to note the event; Italy gave him birth, but his work was for the world.

Six centuries is a long time, sufficient for the test, so sternly just, of posterity. It is a sobering thought to glance at the glittering shelves at hand and ponder where their contents will be 600 years hence, or how many of our contemporary famous will have passed into oblivion. The enduring thing, the permanent thing, seems to stand clear as time passes and scatters its dust of forgetfulness over the mediocre and temporary. Dante wrote of the eternal verities, caught the visions of life and death in his searching imagination and gave us something to dream on.

Shakespeare, Dante, Moliere, Sophocles, Cervantes, Dickens and a few scattered others—but how few the towering figures and how rich the genius which can endure the changing thoughts of a swift-moving civilization!

Dante is the world's. Americans will honor his memory.

ON A BUSINESS BASIS.

Attorney General Daugherty has discovered and "fired" 17 special attorneys employed by his predecessor at $6000 each to "help reduce the cost of living." It is stated that Mr. Daugherty is still on the lookout for others of the same brand who may be lurking around. Since Mr. Palmer's efforts to reduce the cost of living consisted solely of boasts of what he was going to do, it is possible that these 17 special attorneys were employed to help him tell what he was going to do, though those men did nothing much but draw their salaries. It is evident they were not adverse to doing that, since they have kept up the process three months after the administration was changed. They were quite successful in concealing themselves, apparently.

It is stated further that this discovery has led to instructions to all departments to study the lists of employees "so that they may get rid of those set to work during the last administration at high salaries, who are no longer needed." This is in line with promises made in the campaign, and it is a source of pleasure that the pledge is being kept.

The last administration was noted for its disregard for expense. The public pays the bills, so what's the use of worrying? appeared to be the principle on which business was conducted. Even if all possible is done the expense of the government will be heavy and taxes will be

NAVAJO BLANKETS TAKE REAL SLUMP

(By Associated Press)

LANAH, N. M., July 6.—Navajo blankets are going to be cheaper in the near future, because of an economic pinch among the Navajo Indians, according to present indications. The low price of sheep wool, being hauled on the Indians who subsist chiefly on sheep.

With the market for wool weak, the Indians are converting their wool into blankets, creating an abnormal supply, which is driving the price down. The situation is expected to ease up in the fall, when the sheep crop is harvested.

The public will not object to meeting the cost of economical government, heavy though it be, but there could be no excuse for piling needless expense on an already burdened people. Private enterprise expenditures when necessary. Governments should do the same and it is gratifying that President Harding is devoting his energies to conducting the federal government on a correct business basis.

SOCIALIST OF GLASGOW HAS HEART CHANGE

(By Associated Press)

GLASGOW, July 6.—In a current issue of Forward, the Glasgow labor weekly, Ramsay MacDonald, the well-known Socialist labor leader, who at one time was accounted an extremist and was even accused of being a bolshevik by his enemies, attacks the Russian bolshevik.

"I see," he writes, "that the campaign of calumny and untruthfulness designed to cover up the iniquity of the bolshevik tyranny in Georgia is being continued. My readers can take it without a tremor of hesitancy that Georgia was overrun by an army which it was too weak to fight successfully and that it is to day being held down by force and by committees of directors backed by the eleventh army of the Moscow republic."

"Georgia today is governed by a revolutionary committee nominated by the council of commissaries set up by the army of invasion toward the end of February last. They have destroyed every vestige of representative government including municipal councils and trade union organizations like the Tiflis soviet which I saw in working operation. Every Socialist who is still alive is a 'suspect'."

"In Batum, Kutas and Poti there are 1000 in jail for being Socialists or trade unionists. Freedom of press and speech does not exist."

Mrs. Bergdoll is alleged to have said that Russia is better than America. Here's your hat, Mrs. Bergdoll, what's your hurry?

Who says that
"bargain" tires are what the people want

MOST everybody knows the easy-going sort of man who never takes a tire seriously until he gets a blow-out.

How long he will resist universal tire education is a question.

But this is sure—

More people are finding out every day that between leaving things to luck and getting real economy there is a big difference.

Many a car-owner has come to U. S. Tires because he couldn't afford to keep on paying that difference.

Probably seven out of ten users of U. S. Tires came to them only after they'd had enough of "discounts," "bargain offers," "clearance sales of surplus stocks" and other similar appeals.

They have found economy—and they stick to it.

They pay a net price—not "something off list" that may not mean anything in the first place.

They get fresh, live tires, being made and shipped while this message is being written.

No matter where they live there's a nearby U. S. Dealer with his nearby U. S. Factory Branch.

U. S. Tires keep moving.

No opportunity to get old and dried out. No shifting here and there trying to find a market.

Every U. S. Tire a good tire, wherever you find it anywhere in the country.

Because the U. S. policy is a good policy that serves the car-owner all the time.

Doing the very best for him that human good faith can do.

THE U. S. CHAIN TREAD

One of the few tires of which it may be said that they deliver economy year in and year out and tire after tire.

The U. S. Chain Tread gives sufficient traction on all ordinary road surfaces. It is probably the handsomest, and by all odds the most popular, of the whole U. S. Fabric Tire line.
